

You see - Self-awareness promotion edition

I will encourage self-awareness on stop suicide

In this day and age, because there is no money and no food, shoplifting doesn't automatically lead to prison.

Even if you do it twice in a row,
it's impossible to get away with begging to be put in prison.
The source of funding is taxpayers' money.

The post I just published on Facebook was critical of others.

"Money can turn a person into a monster"

Even I can become like that.

If I had a full stomach,
I wouldn't post something like that...the content is true, though.

But I have a firm belief

The initial reason for starting the website.

In the first half of the work:

An African-looking parent and child sitting on the ground.

I have set myself the task of building a world without poverty or wealth.
(This is the 1st version, so it's not displayed at the moment.)

A website everyone can view for free

That belief is expanding into all fields

You could even become that incredibly amazing violinist from String Space

The cover of An Meiden Spring is located at String Space's performance venue
It's a mannequin of the upper body of a short-haired European woman; it will probably be released soon... Suicide prevention measures

The third piece I composed

An Meiden Spring is, for now...

I've converted handwritten sheet music into digital audio using AI and posted it on the top page.

It might seem strange to practice my own compositions, but

Once I've perfected the piano performance,

I will re-upload the piano performance audio, including to YouTube.

The performance will be an accurate piano rendition, following the sheet music precisely.

It will be different from the current digital audio (all three AnMeiden songs, when played according to the sheet music, differ from the YouTube audio).

The impression of the music will be completely different.

Please wait a while.
