

The transfer student with the white schoolbag

A while ago, grandparents often bought school bags for their children.

But now, in the Reiwa era, it's common for parents to buy stylish school bags themselves.

Also, in snowy regions, traditional school bags are no longer suitable because the contents, such as textbooks, would get wet. Therefore, instead of the thin vinyl ones I have, most people now use cloth school bags that are not much different in thickness from traditional ones and can hold textbooks as well.

Most of these school bags are designed to keep the contents dry.

In a few years, they will likely switch to regular bags.

Incidentally, the "mysterious European"
is the statue in the background of AnMeiden Spring.